“María Volonté is an Argentine singer whose refreshing interpretation of tango stole my heart.”

— National Public Radio (NPR)

“The best-kept secret of Argentinian tango... Well established and widely respected in her native Argentina, María Volonté is a singer who can switch between jazz and blues-influenced vocals, intimate Argentinian-style folk singing and classic big tango diva numbers.”

— Songlines

“María Volonté combines the earthiness of Edith Piaf with the sassiness of Eartha Kitt.”

— Jazz Perspectives
